Democracy or Repression: Advocacy for Demanding Times

Hans Johnson

Hans Johnson trains nonprofit leaders on advocacy, governance, and coalition strategy. Currently based in Los Angeles, Hans has guided campaigns to pass state laws in California to protect the Mojave Desert and ban throwaway plastic bags as well as working for immigrants' rights, affordable housing, LGBTQ+ rights, and a clean environment. His strategies to protect public education, human rights and reject hate and censorship continue to win and make a positive difference in California communities.
